

Company Information

Our products are imported directly by Casa Della Roccia and Esty corporation to Japan from Italy. All of the products you see are of high quality and have been chosen by Enrica Rocca.

The story of our business starts from when I was able to attend cooking classes in London some 8 years ago. Enrica Rocca runs cooking schools in both London and Venice and is well established within the industry as a food gourmet. She has worked with many a famous Chief (Jamie Oliver , Gary Roades) and also worked with the American company Goumet which was commissioned by PBS to make a 10 part series on gourmet food from around the world. The show was called " Goument's Adventures with Ruth " and can be found on http://www.gourmet.com/food/2006/12/class_notes_CIA?currentPage=2

Enrica has put together this collection of products by using her experiences in traveling around Italy finding the best tasting and finest quality food products. Since 2009 we started to import those products with a view that we would like to share with people living in Japan Enrica's style of foods.

We hope you enjoy these products and please be sure to see new products on the web site as we introduce new items from her range.

The President,
Mimi Miyama
